

Abstract

The present invention relates to methods of treating intermittent claudication comprising administering glucagon-like peptide-1 (GLP-1) molecules 5 to subjects suffering therefrom.

